Personal Profile

With a background encompassing customer service, business operations, and plumbing apprenticeship, I bring versatility and reliability to my work. My qualifications include Level 3 and Level 2 Diplomas in Plumbing, along with a Level 2 Diploma in Team Leading. However, my true passion lies in IT development, which is why I'm currently enrolled in a rigorous 3-month software skills bootcamp training course. This commitment to further study not only underscores my dedication but also demonstrates my eagerness to expand my knowledge and adaptability in the IT field. Moreover, my participation in this program enhances my marketing skills, further enriching my skill set for the future.

I'm dedicated to pursuing a career in IT development. My goal is to become a skilled software developer, working on exciting projects that make a real impact. I'm passionate about coding, and I'm committed to learning and growing in this field. My aim is to create solutions that solve problems and improve user experiences while staying up-to-date with the latest technology.
